

1. In combination, a temporary ramp adapted for use on roadways under construction, the roadways having an elevated obstruction located in the roadway, said temporary ramp comprising:

first and second adjacent ramp segments each having a lower surface which contacts the roadway when installed and an upper inclined surface that vehicle wheels contact during use, said first and second adjacent ramp segments each having at least one edge portion along which each ramp segment is coupled with the other ramp section during use, said first and second ramp segments being positionable adjacent the elevated obstruction located in the roadway for allowing vehicles traveling the roadway to ride up and over the elevated obstruction.

RECEIVED

MAY 21 2001

TO 3600 MAIL ROOM